Description of Training – November 6th

Fostering Trans Inclusive Environments –The 519

Fostering trans inclusive environments is an interactive workshop focused on raising awareness and building knowledge of trans and gender diverse communities and the barriers to full participation that trans people often face. As a participant, you will learn to identify respectful and affirming language as well as to challenge homophobic and transphobic language and behaviour. You will build knowledge of how relevant human rights legislation protects people from discrimination based on gender identity, gender expression, sex and sexual orientation.

Finally, you'll work collaboratively to share ideas and strategies for short-term and longer-term action back in the workplace, making direct use of Creating Authentic Spaces resources and tools.

Community Justice Buzz Groups

Collectively, hundreds of years of expertise exist in our conference room. Feedback from past conferences tells us many want an opportunity to learn from one another and speak to other agencies delivering similar programs. Take a seat in one of these focus groups and share some of your ideas, generate new ones, or add something new to the toolbox.

Mindful Meditation, Corrections Psychological Health Unit (CPHU) (trainer to be confirmed)

Mindful meditation is the practice of sustaining attention on body, breath, sensations or whatever arises in each moment. Countless studies have demonstrated the benefits of a regular meditation practice, which include but are not limited to improved health, enhanced immune system, better focus and memory, better mood and reduced stress. Moreover, mindful meditation has been shown to assist those who work with criminal justice clients build resilience and deal with the unique challenges of their work. This presentation will explain the basics and outline the benefits of a mindfulness practice, and, will provide first-hand easy-to-do mindfulness exercises that you can take home with you.

Crazy...or wise? The traditional wisdom of indigenous cultures often contradicts modern views about a mental health crisis. Is it a 'calling' to grow or just a 'broken brain'? The documentary CRAZYWISE explores what can be learned from people around the world who have turned their psychological crisis into a positive transformative experience. Through interviews with renowned mental health professionals including Dr. Gabor Mate, Dr. Daniel Siegel and Roshi Joan Halifax, PhD, the filmmakers explore the growing severity of the mental health crisis in America dominated by biomedical psychiatry and a growing movement of professionals and psychiatric survivors who demand alternative treatments that focus on recovery, nurturing social connections, and finding meaning. The documentary is an invitation for participants to explore their experiences and personal views on mental illness. Our hope is that it serves as a catalyst for an open dialogue about mental health and that it creates a safe space for in-depth discussions on this topic, where a broader range of views can be expressed.

Description of Training – November 8th

The Legalization of Cannabis, Ontario Legalization of Cannabis Secretariat Ministry of the Attorney General

We are pleased to welcome two representatives from MAG as they provide an overview of the Cannabis Act, 2017 provincial legislation- with a particular focus on the initiatives that will support the prevention and education of youth (up to the ages of 18) about the risks and harms of cannabis use. Is your agency ready to adapt to this new legislation? Bring your questions and become informed.
